

PHACES Syndrome

Characteristics

- Posterior fossa abnormalities, and other brain abnormalities
- Hemangiomas- usually large on the face, can be anywhere in on the face or neck
- Arterial cerebrovascular anomalies
- Cardiac defects, aortic coarctation and other abnormalities
- Eye anomalies
- Sternal defects or supraumbilical raphe

Eye Associations

Posterior segment abnormalities

- Retinal vascular abnormalities
- Persistent fetal retinal vessels
- “Morning-glory” disc.
- Peripapillary staphyloma.
- Optic nerve hypoplasia.

Anterior segment abnormalities

- Coloboma
- Congenital cataracts
- Sclerocornea
- Iris hypoplasia
- Iris vessel hypertrophy

Other

- Microphthalmia
- Exophthalmos
- Congenital third nerve palsy
- Horner syndrome

Resources

Children's hospital of Wisconsin Article

syndrome

From:

<https://childrenseye.org/wiki/> - Children's Eye Wiki

Permanent link:

https://childrenseye.org/wiki/doku.php?id=phaces_syndrome

Last update: 2022/01/02 20:56